

KNOW YOUR REALTY BOARD

By GRACE HINSHAW

We know of nobody who gets more unmitigated pleasure out of work in general, and her real estate business in particular, than Hallie Crow, who devoted ALL of her time to cultivating clients and seeking out property to fit their particular needs.

Hallie has an exceptional background of experience with people. She has been a soda jerk in San Diego, a butcherette in the Safeway Store in Vallejo, and was one of the first women welders at the Mare Island Navy Base where she was taught the Navy's method of arc welding and learned so well that she was rewarded with a First Class Welder's Certificate for stainless steel and non-magnetic welding. She made a few pieces of "jewelry" (those are Hallie's quotes), but largely this time was spent in real manual labor, sewing up ships for Uncle Sam. Hallie enjoyed this work more than any she had ever done up until this time, but because her name is Hallie, and not Hal, Sam, or Joe, the job had a terminal point with the return of the male welders from the wars.

While in escrow, buying a little house on a corner in Lomita, the spark of interest in the real estate business was kindled, our little fire-ball got busy on her broker's license and now has an office at 24716 Pennsylvania Avenue, with Peg Thomas helping her, a Branch Office also in Lomita, at 1903-261st Street, with Mr. and Mrs. John Patterson in charge here, and a Branch Office in Torrance at 1350 W. 228th Street, presided over by Mrs. Shirley Karr.

Hallie's first sale fanned this spark of interest to the burning point, and each subsequent sale stirs the embers. Her enthusiasm spills over to her plans and hopes for her son, Jerry, who has been ... serving in the Air Force since his graduation from Narbonne High School in 1950. She would like him to be "real estate minded," too, when he comes home.

Hallie was born in Oklahoma, but her parents moved to New Mexico when Hallie was a small child, so Mesilla Park and Las Cruces, where she went to school, are the most important childhood spots.

Club Takes Honors at Lomita Show

Several members of the Torrance Terrace Garden Club won prizes at the Lomita flower show held recently.

Mrs. Victor Benstead, of 1621 Beech, won five first, one second, and one third. A week earlier she also won several firsts and an honorable mention in the sweepstakes at the Lawndale show.

Six-year-old Linda Byk, 1008 Ceres, received two firsts and a special award ribbon at the Lomita show.

Mrs. Carl Hood, 1433 W. 214th St., took two seconds and two thirds.

Mrs. Jeff Cox, chairman, and her floral arrangement group, won a special on a place setting. Materials were contributed by Mrs. Park Montague.

In anticipation of an expanding student body, ten new faculty members have been employed by El Camino college for the school year beginning in September. President Forrest G. Murdock said additional faculty members would be added to the staff as the enrollment demands it.
